ECAWA Conferences have been held annually for more than 20 years.

This year we're taking our State Conference to Western Australia's beautiful South West. So it's a change from the more "metropolitan" venues of recent years and why not? It's just the first of many steps you'll be taking towards broadening YOUR horizons

Traditionally ECAWA Conferences are marvellous opportunities for practical professional development and sharing ideas about using IT education.

The 2001 Conference aims to provide all of that PLUS! Presenters will explore some broader issues such as

On-line learning
Managing stress and change
IT and ethics
Intellectual property and privacy

And have you heard about...

EDWA's e2c strategy?

Registrations received before 14 September go in a lucky draw for reimbursement of Conference Registration!

Keynote speakers

Dr Barclay Burns is President and Chief Learning Officer of Learning.com, an educator-founded, education-focused company dedicated to helping schools effectively integrate technology into the day-to-day experiences of every student.

He has developed and published web-based courses and pioneered electronic curriculum and grading at Brigham Young University. His research into instructional psychology and technology and cognitive neuroscience is reflected in his practical development and use of the EasyTech Instructional Program with students and teachers.

His address for this conference, "Technology Minds: The Science and Practice of Learning and Thinking in a Digital Age", will be insightful and at the cutting edge of research based on the science of learning and related subjects.

Steve Wells is an internationally recognised psychologist, professional speaker and peak performance consultant. He has 10 years experience as a teacher and psychologist in the Education Department of Western Australia and now runs his own training and consultation business.

His presentation "How to Gain e-Freedom from you e-Stresses" will provide you with some powerful strategies for coping with the stresses of being an innovator in a rapidly changing on-line "e-Learning" world. You'll learn some powerful techniques and strategies to help you stay on top of the changes, move beyond the frustrations, and revitalise your teaching and learning experiences.

Other keynote speaker to be advised.
